

SEND Snapshot

Explore the resources and links below for at-home learning and support. Parent / carer supervision and guidance is needed to ensure content is relevant to the age and ability of your child.

Academic

Phonics:

Alphabet Book: click here

A lovely free resource from Widget exploring the initial speech sounds of the alphabet with pictures. This is appropriate for children of any age.

Maths:

Island Saver: click here

A number of fun activities from Natwest all focused on 'money-sense'. This is appropriate for children in KS2 onwards with adult support.

Number games: click here

Some fun and interactive maths games for children who are learning: odd and even numbers, counting up to ten, sequencing numbers, adding and subtracting ten, adding and subtracting 100. These resources are appropriate for KS1 students onwards with adult support.

Days of the Week: click here

A fun YouTube song to help your young people learn the sequence of the days of the week. This resource is appropriate for children of all ages with adult support.

Writing:

The Book of Me: click here

A fun activity from the British Library guiding children and young people through creating a story where they are the main character. This is appropriate for children in KS2 onwards.

Handwriting and Alphabet Practice Sheets: click here

Some lovely resources from Love Writing Inc focusing on pen control and grip, early numbers and letters. Scroll down to Set 1 or 2. These resources are appropriate for children in KS1 onwards with adult support.

Learning Letter Formations: click here

A lovely YouTube video showcasing correct letter formation. This resource is appropriate for children of all ages with adult support.

Spelling techniques for Dyslexic learners: click here

A short video from a mum whose child is dyslexic showing how she helps him learn spellings. This video is for parents.

Reading:

Home, family and belonging in children's books: click here

An article from the British Library written for children with lots of references to children's literature. This is appropriate for children in KS2 onwards with adult support.

We are all different: click here

A lovely free e-book from Twinkl celebrating diversity. This resource is appropriate for children in the EYFS stage onwards with adult support. You may need to register with Twinkl to access this resource; you can register for free at the moment.

You Matter: click here

A video read-along with writer and illustrator Christian Robinson. This resource is appropriate for children in KS1 onwards with adult support.

Say Something: click here

A video read-along of Peter H Reynolds picture book 'Say Something'. This resource is appropriate for children in KS1 onwards with adult support.

Science:

Super Science: click here

A great activity pack from the British Science Association supported by Widgit Symbols. The activities in this resource are appropriate for KS2 onwards with adult support.

Virtual School:

Maths for all year groups (Reception to Year 13): click here

Hundreds of short maths activities practising core skills from IXL. These resources are appropriate for children of any age with adult support to navigate the website.

English for all year groups (Reception to Year 13): click here

Hundreds of short English activities practising core skills from IXL. These resources are appropriate for children of any age with adult support to navigate the website.

Museums, Art and Culture

Create a talking animal: click here

A great activity from the British Library exploring animals from children's literature and inviting you to create your own! This is appropriate for KS1 children with adult support.

Discover Dinosaurs: click here

A catalogue of fun and engaging resources from the Natural History Museum. These resources are appropriate for KS2 onwards with adult support.

Eureka! At home: click here

Lots of fun and engaging activities to get children interested in topics across the curriculum. These activities are suitable for children of different ages; adult support is recommended.

Staying healthy and active

The Power of Play: click here

The 'Play' team at Great Ormond Street Hospital Charity have collated or created resources all about developing play. These resources are appropriate for children of all ages with adult support.

A guide to socially distant outdoor games: click here

Some great ideas from Parent Zone on how to play outside whilst maintaining social distancing.

How to support children who are worried about Coronavirus / Covid-19 / returning to school

Calm Zone: click here

Lots of resources from Childline offering lots of activities and tools for children who are feeling anxious, scared or sad. These resources are appropriate for KS2 onwards with adult support.

Going back to school (social story): click here

An easy-to-read social story about going back to school. This resource is appropriate for children in KS1 onwards with adult support.

Returning to school: click here

Advice and help for parents from the NSPCC about children returning to school.

Greeting my teachers and friends: click here

A little picture book from Autism Little Learners about how to greet teachers and friends whilst maintaining social distance. This resource is appropriate for KS1 students onwards with adult support.

CITY OF WOLVERHAMPTON COUNCIL

Your Specialist Learning Support team:

and newest member Nikki Slade!